

Perhaps even more impressive in the record before Congress was the testimony showing that racial discrimination in restaurants was a prolific source of disputes indirectly burdening and obstructing commerce